BELLE GLADE — PAHOKEE, FL

BART D. BRANYON, was charged with careless driving following an accident on Airport Road near Glades Day School Monday, March 16. A total of $1,900 damage resulted from the accident. A city truck, driven by Walter Padgett, was struck by Branyon's car and came to rest on its side in a canal. Mary Beth Adams was treated for injuries at the scene.

Mayor takes issue with report

BELLE GLADE — Belle Glade Mayor Thomas L. Altman has strongly objected to a Channel 5 news report which examined the city's community development program. The report was telecast Thursday, March 12. In a three page letter mailed to WPTV News Director Bob Howick Tuesday, March 17, Altman took issue with five portions of the report which he said were in error and asked for corrections. In error, Altman said were: "The report that the City of Belle Glade had altered figures on minority concentrations in its grant application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The city has never altered the figures," Altman said.

Cable TV rate hike asked of South Bay

By Alma Henry
SOUTH BAY — Phil Drummond, Manager of Jones Interable, Inc., appeared before the South Bay City Commission Tuesday and asked the Commissioners to reconsider the proposed rate hike the local cable company requested at the last City Commission meeting on Mar. 3. At the Mar. 3 meeting the Commissioners agreed to grant Jones Interable a five percent rate increase. The cable company asked the Commission for a 9.85 hike, but the City Attorney James Gann said an agreement between the City and Jones Interable would not allow for the 9.85 increase. Drummond told the Commission the cable company needed the 9.85 increase if the cable company is to "carry on". Drummond said the last time Jones Interable requested an increase was in 1978. "Since taking over the system Jones Interable has put a considerable amount of funds into the systems", said Drummond. "We have placed approximately 100 flex-taps in South Bay and have approximately 400 more on order that will be installed within the next year," Drummond added. Drummond said the flex-taps are much better than the present taps being used.

City sticks with 201 financial advisor

BELLE GLADE — Apprehensive over the fate of the city's 201 wastewater treatment plan, Belle Glade City Commissioners considered whether they should change financial advisors Monday night at a workshop session.

After weighing the pros and cons of what has clearly somewhat of an agonizing situation for the commissioners, however, city fathers decided to stick with Loomis Leedy, the firm which has been retained to prepare the city's bond package.

Mayor Thomas Altman revealed that he had called Leedy earlier in the day Monday and had a very "frank" conversation, including broaching the possibility of "dismissing" the firm.

Altman said he looks to the financial advisor to provide the city with solid information so that the reasons for improvements and the corresponding financing can be explained to the people with "confidence and credibility."

Altman said problems have arisen at workshops over the direction the bond issue is taking and that commissioners are leaving the meetings with questions to be answered at future meetings.

Commissioner Charles D. Goodlett said the city is faced with a "multitude of problems," and still does not know if it will be using a deep well injection system to dispose of sewage effluent or "something else."

Goodlett said the number one problem faced by the city is determining the route it will take. "What's keeping us from making that determination is that we're waiting on the EPA, right?" he said.

Rolfe Wagner, Belle Glade's newly appointed city manager, said many of the important issues have been raised while the project is in progress. "If EPA is going to make that decision, how do we push them toward it?" he asked.

Wagner suggested placing the project in diagram form with a critical path defined to address the commission's concerns.

Altman said he considered the financial advisor the "quarterback of the team," and expected the advisor to take action on problems which arise and to advise the city commission.

"You've either got to accept their programs or their advice or you've got to replace them. It's just that plain and simple," Goodlett said.

"If you have confidence in what they are doing, then you don't have a problem," Altman said, asking commissioners how they felt about Loomis Leedy.

Altman said he had recommended Leedy based on his knowledge of the firm and the work it had done on a previous bond issue for the city.

Altman said that after his conversation with Leedy Tuesday, and the assistance which Rolfe Wagner will render as he becomes more familiar with the project, that he felt better about the project.

Altman asked Wagner to scrutinize the program and bring any "weak links" to the attention of the commission.

In other business Tuesday, commissioners:

- Named Charles Goodlett to the 201 Committee.
- Discussed the role of the city in softball leagues. In the past, the city has run the leagues, but Altman said the city also had the option of providing the facilities and letting the leagues run themselves.

Commissioner Dorothy Walker was concerned that if the city withdrew from active leadership of the league, segregated teams might arise.

Johnny Rutledge responded, however, that under city management last year, all white, all black, and racially mixed teams participated in the league. Rutledge said he thought the composition of the teams would remain roughly the same, regardless of who ran the league.

City Manager Wagner said he wanted to see data on energy costs for the program and to bring the matter back before the commission at a later date.

• Dr. R.J. Allen asked the city to consider setting up a newspaper recycling program similar to ones established on the east coast. Commissioners expressed interest in the idea and agreed to bring up the matter during regular session.

• Reviewed the country club lease with manager John Baez. One of the main points of discussion was over the replacement and repair of worn out or broken items. Baez argued that he should have a long term lease to make it worthwhile for him to sink money into the country club.

Mayor Altman suggested that some type of depreciation schedule could be worked out which would allow the city to buy back any improvements on a depreciated basis after a lease is completed.

• Reviewed concession rights at city parks. The feeling of the commission seemed to be against granting concession rights to organizations for athletic events. But political, religious, or fraternal gatherings, which would make use of picnic lunches or barbecues, might be acceptable.

The matter was referred to city administrators for additional study.

Hope for quick solution of murder fades

BELLE GLADE — Hope for a quick solution to the murder of Willie Mae Mann, 61 appeared to be fading Tuesday.

March 17, more than a week after she was found shot to death at January Grocery, where she was employed.

Chief of Police Bill Mathis said three investigators are still assigned to the case, tracking down leads, interviewing potential witnesses, but admitted that "we have nothing real bright on the horizon."

A search for the murder weapon, which led police divers to look into the Hillsboro Canal adjacent to January's Grocery, has thus far been fruitless.

Police are no longer seeking a late model gold

Prayer breakfast plans made

Plans are being made for the Second Annual Belle Glade Community Prayer Breakfast sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of the Glades. It is to be held Good Friday April 17, at the Belle Glade Civic Center.

Tickets will be going on sale about March 23rd at the Belle Glade Chamber of commerce and the Bible Book Store at 435 S.E. 2nd St. Belle Glade or from any Kiwanis Club member. Since the prayer breakfast was such a success last year, reservations should be made early this year due to a limited amount of seating.

The Belle Glade Community Prayer Breakfast is conducted annually by the Kiwanis Club as an interdenominational event to encourage the joining together of people of all faiths in reaffirmation of our common witness in the Supreme Being of God and in the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Mixed doubles tourney set

A mixed doubles, round robin tennis tournament will be held in Clewiston Saturday, March 28, to benefit the Hendry Association for Retarded Citizens.

Entry fee is $7.50 a person. Call Bill Swartz at the Clewiston Recreation Department—983-8566 or the ARC 983-5155 for more details.

'Prisoner' opens Friday

Neil Simon's "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" opens Friday, March 20, at Palm Beach Junior College-Glades, in Room SC102. Performances are also set for Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Tickets are available at Palm Beach Junior College-Glades and at the Herald-Observer office.

Correction

In Cook's Corner last week the Herald-Observer incorrectly printed in the Jello Oaka recipe the cake should cook for 10 minutes. The recipe should have read let cake cool for 10 minutes before forking holes through the cake and pouring the jello mixture over cake.
 We regret any inconvenience we may have caused any of the cooks following last Thursday's recipe.

SHERRY AND MELISSA MILLER of Belle Glade escaped death Friday, March 13, when their car collided with a cane truck on Highway 441 near the Everglades Animal Clinic. The two young women reportedly escaped serious injury by ducking under the dash of their car at the moment before the collision.

Commercial fishing future to be addressed

A series of three public hearings have been called by the Florida Game and Freshwater Fish Commission to discuss commercial fishing on Lake Okeechobee. Two of the public hearings will be held in the Lake Okeechobee area.

Dates for the public hearings include: Tuesday, March 24, 7:30 p.m., at the Manatee County Courthouse on Manatee Avenue in Bradenton; Wednesday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m. at Clewiston Middle School on W.C. Owen Avenue in Clewiston; and Thursday March 26, at 7:30 p.m. at Okeechobee High School on Highway 441 North.

Come out to Afro Arts Festival!

The Second Annual Glades Festival of Afro Arts is well on its way and the executive committee and the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., have planned a splendid affair in observance of Black Americans and their African ancestors and heritage.

The festival will kick off with a parade featuring Miss Ruebina Johnson, the first Miss Glades Festival of Afro Arts and her Royal Court, along with two of Belle Glade's finest citizens, Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCoy (JT) as the parade marshals.

Also three of Florida's and the nation's most distinguished black public figures will be speaking at the Festival.

Judge Alcee Hastings, district judge for the Southern district of Florida will be the keynote speaker.

Judge Hastings, no stranger to the Glades Area undoubtedly will deliver a soul shattering message.

Known for his civic rights work Judge Hastings' visit to the Glades is one you would not want to miss. Athalia Range and Sylvia Poiter, two distinguished black women in their own right also are no strangers to the Glades. Mrs. Range a former commissioner for the city of Miami and Ms. Poiter, presently serving as a Commissioner for the City of Delray Beach surely will present some interesting information on the politics of our country and what's in store in the system for Blacks.

Get out and enjoy a day of refreshing activities and learn about the important roles Blacks played in the past, are playing presently and will play in the future in the growth of America.

Thought you would like to know, WPBT Channel 2, public television in South Florida will be presenting a special event with Mayor Kathy Evers of Fort Lauderdale, Miss. on Monday, Mar. 30 at 8:30 p.m. Mayor Evers will be featured on "Within the Law."

Miami attorney Stanley M. Rosenblatt will talk to Mayor Evers on a variety of topics including Black leadership, former president Jimmy Carter, the Reagan Administration, welfare, crime, and the activities of the 60's: Stokely Carmichael, Eldridge Cleaver and Rap Brown.

Mayor Evers is an active member of the NAACP and the brother of the slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. who was killed in the 60's in Mississippi.

This is a program you would want to share with your family. It will contain some excellent briefs on Black History in America during the 60's.

The American Cancer Society of Dade, Broward and Palm Beach Counties is planning a symposium "Challenge Against Cancer in Minorities," in Miami on Saturday, April 4 at Miami Dade Community College.

ACS has gone on record as being committed to cancer control programs of prevention and detection among Black Americans. Through greater participation from leadership within the Black community, a better job in cancer control can be achieved.

The minority Involvement Committee was thus organized and their goal is to "Educate in Order to Eradicate Cancer from our Black Community."

The symposium is opened to the public and the keynote speaker will be Dr. LaSalle D. LaFalle, Jr., a Floridian and the immediate past president of the American Cancer Society. Dr. LaFalle is an authority on Cancer's effect on the Black Community.

The registration for the symposium is $5 and it will include lunch.

Persons interested may contact me for additional information.

The symposium is one of five that will be held across Florida presenting information to interested citizens on cancer in minorities.

The overall conference goal is to increase minority awareness and participation in the activities of the American Cancer Society. Cancer is a serious health problem among minorities. It is the belief of the Minority Program that through a carefully selected group of workshops and facilitators, they can educate the community about cancer and the A.C.S.

Mayor Donald Tanner told Drummond the City Commissioners could not act on the new request because the city attorney was out of town.

"Until the city attorney gets back into town we must stay with the present rate," said Tanner.

Drummond also told the Commission he was disappointed with the critical media coverage the company had received following the last Commission meeting.

Drummond said the cable company hasn't had many calls outside of Villa Logo complaining of the television services.

"Mayor Tanner told Drummond he receives complaints daily."

"I really wish some of these complaints would come to us so we can know about a problem unless we are called," said Drummond.

Drummond said

persons having complaints and problems with reception can reach the cable company seven days a week by calling 998-3086.

"We want to restore the public confidence in the cable company," said Drummond.

Drummond also told the commission in addition to constant installation of new equipment to improve reception, Station ESP will be added in three months. ESP is a all sports station.

In other business before the Commission:

Mayor Tanner asked the citizens of South Bay to request home delivery and purchase mail boxes and install them near their homes.

Tanner said within 30 days General Delivery will cease. "This is not just in South Bay but the U.S. Postal System is cutting that service out across the

About those roads

By Walter L. Revell

Editor's note: Walter L. Revell is the former Florida Secretary of Transportation.

Sharp curves, along with high crowns, narrow lanes and blind intersections, make half of Florida's state and local roads inadequate for today's traffic demands.

These obsolete roads are more than just an inconvenience. They can be deadly. Data released by The Road Information Program (TRIP) of Washington, D.C., indicates that they are the primary cause of 219 motor vehicle accidents in Florida every day.

In raw numbers, hazardous highways are responsible for 80,000 accidents, costing the state's taxpayers $292.4 million annually. That's an average of $3,600 per accident caused by antiquated roads.

One of the reasons Florida has so much obsolete mileage is because more than half of it was built prior to World War II. There are more cars using the system today than engineers and designers in the 20's and 30's could imagine. The cars, buses and trucks that pound Florida's highways are larger, wider, longer and heavier than their older counterparts. And they travel more miles to a gallon than pre-World War II vehicles. In all, these roads can't safely handle the traffic conditions of 1980.

The leading cause of accidents in Florida is driver error. The State Highway Patrol can attest to how tough it is to correct bad driving habits that cause accidents. But, while little can be done to prevent accidents caused by driver error, a lot can be done to prevent accidents caused by obsolete roads.

Upgrading more than 12,000 miles of our paved highways would eliminate one out of every four accidents, save lives and reduce human suffering. Based on federal Highway Administration reports, virtually all accidents caused by hazardous highways can be eliminated, if the roads are upgraded.

The 343,000 accidents occurring in Florida last year cost the citizens of the state $1.26 billion in hospital fees, property damage and payments to victims. Enough people died on Florida highways last year to rank the state 15th in the nation for traffic fatalities.

These miles of obsolete roads have gone unrepaid for a simple reason: lack of money. The State Department of Transportation and responsible local authorities have been unable to keep up with increasing numbers of improvement projects with decreasing revenues.

Until the State finds a way to raise the needed money, Florida motorists will continue to be threatened by hazardous roads.

Car dealers look for upswing

As the sugar cane-cutting season ends early this year, there is fortunately, some upbeat news from a long-suffering local business group.

Many downtown shops will be facing the annual, inevitable slowdown that the end of the sugar harvest brings. But local car dealers have been telling me that auto sales are up again, after many months of record declines.

National trends, as reported last week, give right along with our apparent local trends. People are looking and beginning to buy cars again.

The upturn is not all that stupendous, one dealer reported this week, because after such huge dips last year, the car industry had nowhere to go but up. But at least things are starting, knock on wood, to look up again for the automobile people, both in the Glades and across America.

Now if those guys will just stop teasing me about my Datsun...

Local Boaters say Lake is Very Low

This isn't a scientific report or a thorough investigation, but some of my boating friends say Lake Okechobee is getting so low that they are afraid of taking their boats out on it.

This, if true, is undoubtedly a product of the drought that has plagued our region for the national", said Tanner.

Accepted a bid from Bockaway Inc. of Okeechobee to complete Phase II of the Paving, Drainage and Sidewalk Improvements.

Acting City Manager Lomax Harrell said the City of South Bay received a notice from John Green, director of Palm Beach County Community Development Department that the city would be receiving $314,479.25 for the project. The City would have to furnish and additional $6,655.00 to complete the project.

Harrell said the city funds would be used to re-surf Northwest First Streets and 4th Ave.

Passed resolution to pay off a 1963 Water Revenue bond in the amount of $375,000.

Delayed taking action on a request by Kendra Perkins a member of the Business and Industry Committee of the American Cancer Society to make a donation to the Society.

JIM JONES
BOILER PLATE

It's all in the eye of the beholder

There it was, suspended between Bo Derek and Elvis Presley: only a face a mother could love. It was a portrait, a profile. That nose, that veering hairline.

What in the world was a portrait of that guy doing hanging in the Henry County Fair Exhibit Hall? Ken Alford first brought it to my attention. "Jim, is that your picture down at the fair?" he asked.

Surely not, I responded, but then thinking about it just for a moment, I said, "Could be."

Several persons asked if my wife or her husband's picture was displayed at the fair. No, who would want to display his picture, she said.

So we went down to look at this portrait that we had been hearing about.

"Yeah, there I am," I said pointing to the face that greets me in the shaving mirror each day.

"You wish," my wife said, thinking that I was pointing to Elvis.

"No, no," I said, "Look just down and to the right."

And sure enough, there was Jim Jones, not "brutally handsome" as one character is described in a contemporary song, but in his full glory nonetheless.

It's fascinating looking at oneself through the eyes of another.

Given the subject matter, artist Mary Faye Walker did a wonderful job. I think she was generous with the amount of hair she painted, but I cannot hold that against her.

It's a supreme compliment to have ones visage recorded by another. Thanks Mary Faye. I love the portrait.

It's been said that the fair is a storehouse of surprises, but it was true for me in a personal way this year.

After seeing a portion of the rehearsal of "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" earlier this month, I considered myself fortunate to obtain tickets to the opening night of the production.

I'm looking forward to an evening of humor, drama, and fine acting from the young group which is hoping to start a local tradition. Tickets can be obtained here at the Herald-Observer office or at Palm Beach Junior College.

While I was in Tampa this weekend on business, I drove over to Lakeland Saturday to catch some of the action in the state high school basketball championships.

Class 1A Moore Haven was the closest thing to a Glades team still playing, finally losing out to Malone in the finals.

Pahokee's conqueror, Avon Park, went down to flaming defeat in the semifinals.

In the evening's last event, Clearwater beat Miami Central for the state Class 4A championship. Clearwater had 7 foot center with one of the softest, finest shooting touches I've seen. Those 7 foot centers do make a difference and there probably isn't a coach in this area who wouldn't like to have one, just once.

I was struck once again by the difficulty of winning a state championship. Glades Day's 1980 football championship remains a monumental achievement.

Just a reminder to coaches: We'll be covering as many of your events as we can this year, but due to the number of schools in this area, we have to ask that whenever possible coaches give us a call and report your results. Our number is 996-2057.

I believe that local sports are one of the best read parts of a community newspaper and we want to report all the sports news possible.

"The report that the city has claimed to use money in one area and then used that money in another area of the community development program."

"The report that the area south of Avenue S, where the money was spent has a minority concentration one third as great as the area north of Avenue E. The population both north and south of the avenue is 99 percent minority, Altman said.

"The report that residents north of Avenue E live too far away from a 10 acre park constructed under the community development program.

"The resident's north of Avenue E are five blocks from the park," Altman corrected.

"This park is probably the single most beneficial project completed under community development since we began urban renewal eight years ago. Every night two or three hundred young people are occupied by activities at the park. Many of these young people roamed the streets prior to the completion of the park."

"The inclusion of a segment of NBC's 'cut and splice documentary,' entitled 'The Migrant of 1980.'"

"That particular segment of film has been noted at least three times since then by (1) The State Inspector General, (2) The Director of the Migrant Association, and (3) The Florida Farm Bureau report on the documentary, Altman wrote.

WPTV reporter Don Williams referred to a proposed agreement between HUD and Florida Rural Legal Services in response to a suit filed by Florida Rural Legal Services against HUD, claiming discriminatory practices in allocating money to Belle Glade's community development program.

"The proposed agreement between HUD and Florida Rural Legal Services (as we understand it) would not require anything more from the City of Belle Glade than existing program standards which HUD already requires," Altman responded.

The city's response to the Channel 5 newscast is the latest in a chain of events concerning the city's ill fated 1981-1984 $3 million grant application.

On January 15, Herald-Observer reported HUD's denial that it had reached any agreement with Florida Rural Legal Services.

"There has been no agreement reached," said Elaine Hill, a public information specialist in the HUD office at Jacksonville. "The matter is still under litigation and there is not a word about a settlement."

FRLS Attorney Don Mason brought suit against the city in 1980, claiming the city had misused community development funds over a period of years which were intended to alleviate problems in the core city.

The Palm Beach Evening Times reported March 16 that a link between FRLS and HUD does indeed exist.

Library plans puppet show

The Belle Glade Public Library is planning a series of puppet shows to entertain elementary school children during April and May.

In the past, elementary classes have come to the library, but Librarian Phyllis Lilley says this has cut down on attendance.

So, equipped with a portable stage and two new shows, the library will be taking the show to the school children.

Two shows will be featured: Beauty and the Beast, and another show, the title of which will be announced later.

Public schools will receive the show first, followed by the private schools.

Presenting the show are Ms. Lilley and her assistant, Lavenda Coleman.

Belle Glade Elementary had been scheduled for April 1-2, followed by Rosewood April 9-10, Cove Elementary April 14-15, and Glade View April 30-May 1.

A performance is also set for Saturday, April 11, during the Black Gold Jubilee.

Man drowns in

freak tractor accident

Five women returning from fighting a muck fire south of Ritta Camp Friday, March 13, escaped serious injury when the crawler-tractor they were riding slid into a canal draining the driver, Detective Robert Champion of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office said.

Reginald Healey, 42, came up once after the tractor plunged into the canal before disappearing from view, witnesses said.

Healey's body was taken to Glades General Hospital by Miller Mortuary.

The five women were transported to Hendry General Hospital in Clewiston by Glades-Hendry Ambulance Service, where all but one, Francis Lee Brown, were treated and released. Ms. Brown was admitted for observation.

According to Detective Champion, vibration from the tractor as it traveled back along a rock road about one-quarter mile south of Ritta Camp caused a tote bag to fall onto the road. Healey swerved to avoid the tote bag and the tractor and wagon it was pulling slid into the canal.

The women, who were riding on the wagon and the tractor, were thrown into the canal, but managed to scramble out. Among those thrown into the canal were Rosa Mae Lee, Velma McQueen, Rose Stribbing, and Iris Davis.

City pushes for recount of census

BELLE GLADE — Belle Glade city officials are continuing to assert that the city's population was undercounted in the 1980 Census and are asking that the count be revised upward.

"The area planning board has been working on it and we have contacted our U.S. senators," City Planner Joe Fay said Friday. "We feel the count has been misrepresented."

The city has considered joining a law suit initiated by another city, unless the figures are increased.

According to preliminary figures published by the Census Bureau in February, Belle Glade's population declined from 15,949 in 1970 to 14,480 in 1980.

In the initial count, Belle Glade was credited with having 11,470. That figure was later increased two times, first to 13,237 and then to 14,480.

Based on a study of the city's birth and death records, water customers, and other data over a 10 year period, which indicates a two to three percent annual growth rate, Fay says the population is probably closer to 17,000.

The Area Planning Board has evaluated the information available on Belle Glade's population and concluded that the Census count is statistically incorrect. Copies of a resolution to this effect have been sent to the city, Palm Beach County, U.S. Representative Dan Mica, and the Census Bureau's regional office in Atlanta.

City officials differ with the Bureau's housing figures also, which indicate a growth from 5,559 to 6,012 during the past 10 years. These figures are no longer being contested, but Fay says the Bureau claims Belle Glade has a 15 percent vacancy rate, which is "ridiculous."

Pahokee city officials are also concerned by the preliminary report, which shows Pahokee's population declining to 4,771 from 5,653. Mayor Norma Norman said City of Pahokee figures indicate the population is closer to 6,800.

"We don't have the money to push it," Norman said of the effort to revise the figures.

Palm Beach County should lead the way in having the figures corrected, he said, adding that Pahokee would be willing to support the cause.

Despite efforts to bring the figures into line with the area's actual population, the federal bureaucracy may yet prevail. "We're not very hopeful," Fay said.

Census figures are used for a wide variety of purposes, including drawing district boundary lines for legislative representation and for federal grant and revenue sharing programs.

13 arrested on drug charges

A two month combined investigation by the Belle Glade Police Department and the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department Organized Crime Bureau resulted in 13 drug related arrests Wednesday, March 11.

Investigators confiscated approximately one-half pound of marijuana, hashish, pills, and para-phenalia. Ten adults and three juveniles were arrested.

Charged with possession of marijuana with intent to sell were Mamie Lou McCallum of 524 S.W. 9th Street #2, and Vera Mae Davis of 525 S.W. 8th St. #3.

Charged with sale of marijuana was Willie Floyd Thomas and William Walker. Jimmy Lee Brown was charged with sale of cocaine and soliciting for the sale of cocaine. George Warren was charged with sale of cocaine.

Henry Lee Felder was charged with sale of marijuana and two counts of sale of cocaine, while Roosevelt Peter Robinson and Bernard Wildred Bailey were charged with sale of cocaine and possession of marijuana. Howard Bales was charged with three counts of sale of marijuana.

Thirteen persons were arrested in all on 19 charges involving the sale of narcotics. Chief D. Bill Mathis and Detective Captain Frank Fogelman coordinated the investigation.

Making the arrests were Patrolmen Jack Fulenwider and Michael Johnson of the Belle Glade Police Department and Deputy Sheriff Mike Sully of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department.

Chamber orders 375 chickens

BELLE GLADE — The Glades Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors voted to order 375 chickens for the Black Gold Jubilee Thursday, March 12.

The chickens will be the main course at the chamber's barbecue Sunday, April 12, at the city marina. The chamber will also operate a concession stand at the marina.

In other business at Thursday's meeting, David Goodlett reported that the chamber's float entry in the jubilee parade is shaping up. The frame for the Horn of Plenty is built and "it looks real good," Goodlett said.

But members were advised that the 32nd Annual Kissimmee Boat-A-Cade would be stopping over in Belle Glade June 21st.

McCoys are parade marshalls

BELLE GLADE — Mr. and Mrs. John T. (Joyce) McCoy will be the parade marshalls Saturday, Mar. 21, for the Second Annual Festival of Afro Arts parade.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy were selected by the executive board of the Festival of Afro Arts because of their involvement with community affairs and with Glades area youths.

A native of the Glades, Mr. McCoy is a graduate of Everglades Vocational High School, the first high school in the Glades for black students.

Presently employed by the City of Belle Glade as park supervisor for Lake Shore Park, McCoy has received numerous community service awards from various groups and organizations in the Glades.

He received the Human Relations Award from the West Area Superintendent's Office of the Palm Beach County School Board and was honored by the Dorado Civic Club last year at their annual Sickle Cell Anemia Awards Banquet.

Mrs. McCoy, a native of Jasper, is a graduate of Florida A and M University and is currently a teacher with the Palm Beach County School system. The McCoys are the parents of three children, John T. McCoy, Jr., Micheal and Janelle. They attend the New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church and are active members of the Deacon and Deaconess Boards.

Mrs. Celester Monroe, director of the festival, said Mr. and Mrs. Willie U. Walker will also be riding in the parade.

Walker recently retired from the Palm Beach County School Board as a teacher at East Lake Middle School, after teaching in the county school system for 39 years. He has been honored by many civic clubs for his community involvement. He has been honored by the United Teaching Profession, Inc., Elite Community Club, and featured in the awards volume, "Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America."

The parade line-up is set for 9 a.m. and the parade will begin at 10 a.m. at the Glades Central Community School and will wind its way East on Canal Street to Main Street, turn right at Avenue A to S.W. 5th St., to Avenue E, and proceed west to Lake Shore Civic Center.

The Glades Central and Pahokee High Schools bands will be participating in the parade along with many civic and social organizations.

Following the parade an array of activities are scheduled at the park.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN T. MCCOY, are the parade marshalls for the Second Annual Festival of Afro Arts parade.

Garden Study Club meets

BELLE GLADE — The Garden Study Club of Belle Glade met at the home of Mrs. Edith Van Landingham, Friday, Mar. 13. Mrs. Francis Ball served as co-hostess for the meeting and 14 members and two guests attended.

President Nancy Creech called the meeting to order and the members recited the club collect and pledge to the flag.

Mrs. Linda Steele presented a slate of officers nominated to serve for the 1981-82 year. Officer nominated were: President, Nancy Creech; Francis Ball, vice-president; Sue Murphy, secretary and Teresa Lutz, treasurer. The slate was accepted by the members.

The plant specimen winners for the month were first place, Mrs. Teresa Lutz and Mrs. Sue Murphy, second place. The miniature arrangement contest was won by Mrs. Francis Bradshaw and Mrs. Van Landingham was the second place winner. The plant specimen was bromeliad.

The club members also made tentative plans to purchase clover seeds and make contact with the Department of Transportation to see if DOT will sow and care for the clover.

A white elephant sale was also held among the members before and after the meeting.

The Garden Study will be placing a booth in the Black Gold Jubilee Arts and Craft show and will be selling plants and baked goods.

Mrs. Joy Larsen presented a program on herbs. She displayed pots containing dill, basil, parsley, and rosemary.

Mrs. Larsen demonstrated how the herbs could be used to flavor foods and eliminate the need for salt in the diet.

Markuson and her aide, Iva Marsh, kindergarten: Betty Evans, first grade; Willie Mae Jones, second; Edna Stephens, third, and Sandra Anderson, substitute teacher for Karen Kay, fourth grade.

Mental Retardation Month

By Alma Henry

March is Mental Retardation Month across the nation and citizen advocacy groups across America and right here in the Glades are busy disseminating information in the hope of making America's number one health problem affecting children today: Mental Retardation, a more readily understood illness among the general populace.

Most people have heard the term Mental Retardation and yet few people understand what mental retardation is, what it affects and what effect it has on a person's life.

Tricia Blash, executive director of the Association for Retarded Citizens-Glades Area said "Mental Retardation is not a disease."

"A mentally retarded person is one who from childhood matures at below-average rate and experiences unusual difficulty in learning, social adjustment and economic productivity," said Mrs. Blash.

Until recently, most people believed that retardation was inherited from one of the child's parents. It is known that only about one fourth of the cases of retardation are hereditary. Mental retardation can be caused by any condition which interferes with the child's development before birth, during birth or in the early childhood years.

Many causes of retardation are unknown and therefore, remain preventable. But medical experts now say at least 50 percent of the cases are preventable.

"Every five minutes in the United States, a child is born mentally retarded, and for the most part most of these cases could have been prevented," said Mrs. Blash.

Blash said since she began her work with the Association for Retarded Citizens she has come across a high number of mentally retarded cases that were preventable.

"Of prime importance in the prevention of mental retardation is the health of the mother before and during pregnancy," said Mrs. Blash. Constant attention to the development of the child from the embryonic stage through delivery; and the assurance that once born, the child is afforded not only a chance to grow physically strong, but also the opportunity to learn to experience sensory and cultural stimulation, should be maintained.

It is known that a large number of preventable mental retardation cases are drug related, she said.

According to information released by the March of Dimes, "everything a woman eats or drinks gets into her fetus, and at some other time however in pregnancy might not affect the fetus at all."

Most birth defects are caused during the first 12 weeks of pregnancy, when a baby's body, arms, legs, and internal organs are being formed. The wrong drug taken at this time could interrupt, or drastically change, part of the baby's development.

The same drug taken at some other time however in pregnancy might not affect the fetus at all.

Many medications can cause birth defects, even the most commonly used aspirins when taken alone or combined with other drugs.

Mrs. Blash said the National Association for Retardation recommends that all expectant mothers check with their doctors about the safety of taking drugs during their pregnancy.

Besides medicine, there are the social drugs: hard drugs, alcohol and tobacco that can be harmful.

Some studies have shown there is a need to clarify the effects of hard drugs (heroin, cocaine, and amphetamines) on the unborn there is no doubt about the destructive force they can have on anyone's health. A pregnant, heroin addict can damage her baby, causing it painful withdrawal symptoms at birth. Pregnant addicts also neglect their health because of their drug needs. This increases the risk of having a sick baby.

LSD, mescaline, hashish, and marijuana, change the user's sensation and emotions. Even though they don't cause physical addiction, they may lead to damaging psychological dependence. All women of childbearing age should understand that drugs, whether hard or soft, pose a possible threat to the health of their unborn babies.

Studies have also shown that mothers who smoke heavily tend to have low birthweight babies. Many doctors believe that nicotine is directly responsible for stunting fetal growth. Others suspect that since smoking constricts blood circulation in varying degrees, this may deprive the fetus of adequate nutrients through the placenta.

Alcohol passes the placenta quickly. An unborn baby feels a drink almost as fast as the mother does. If a fetus is overwhelmed with liquor, his or her body can be prevented from developing as it should.

Children of alcoholic mothers are sometimes born with a pattern of birth defects known as "fetal alcohol syndrome."

Although there is so little known about the effect of drugs, alcohol and tobacco on the unborn, there is so much at stake, the life of the unborn.

Presently there is an estimated three percent of the population of the United States—or more than six million individuals—are believed to be mentally retarded.

More than 100,000 babies born each year will be added to this number unless far reaching preventive measures are discovered and used.

Until doctors and researchers can determine the cause and prescribe corrective measures, the National Association for Retarded Citizens recommends these simple steps for mother to be, in taking care of themselves and their future children.

- Think ahead.
- About one-fourth of all mentally retarded individuals are retarded because of a genetic factor. Genetic counseling can help couples decrease these estimates.

- See your doctor before conception.
- Eat the right foods.
- Protect yourself with immunizations.

- If you get German or three-day measles (rubella) in the first three months of pregnancy, retardation or some other birth defect may be the result.
- Beware of radiation.

- Have no x-rays without your doctor's knowledge of your condition.
- Continue to see your doctor.

- The doctor will check the baby's growth until it is time for you to deliver. Abnormalities may be detected and possibly corrected or reduced with constant care.
- Stop smoking.

- Veneral diseases need treatment.
- Damage to the unborn baby's heart, skeleton, nervous system and brain can be caused by a veneral disease—the result can be a mentally retarded child.

- Know your blood type.
- Avoid drugs except those prescribed by your doctor.

DR. BRENDA LYLES, seated receives a standing ovation from members of the El Dorado Civic Club and their guests at a togetherness tea held at the Lake Shore Civic Center.

Lyles speaks at Togetherness tea

BELLE GLADE — Eleven community clubs and three sororities gathered at the Lake Shore Civic Center Sunday afternoon, Mar. 8 for "A Togetherness Tea" sponsored by the El Dorado Civic Club of Belle Glade.

The local civic club presented Dr. Brenda Lyles, a psychologist with Palm Beach County Schools as the keynote speaker.

Dr. Lyles told El Dorado Club members and their guest the time has come when "Blacks must stand together or face genocide."

Dr. Lyles said Black children are mislabeled in educational programs. Blacks will be first to be hit in the budget cuts recommended by President Ronald Reagan, the victims of police brutality, and victims of many ill happenings in America today.

Local sororities participating in the program were Glades Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc., Iota Omicron Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., and the Mu Rho Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

Clubs appearing on program were The Friendship Womens Club and the Glades Ebony Ladies Club of Pahokee.

Clubs from Belle Glade participating were the City Association of Women's Club, the El Dorado Civic Club, United Women's Club, La Ch Mesdames Social Club.

Realistic Cosmetologist Club, Sophisticated Women's Club, Elite Community Club, Glades Silhouette, and the Zeta Amniche Club.

Also appearing on program were Otis Payne, Debra Benjamin, Gloria Blakey, Dorothy Davis, PAHOKEE — The Pahokee Business and Professional Women's Club has put into action its National theme, "Helath, Economics and Energy- Decade for Decision" in their programming.

January's chairman, Faith Sasser gave a talk and slide presentation on gasoline energy. In February, Isabel Palacio' a insurance sales agent with Farm Bureau Insurance in Belle Glade spoke on insurance needs for women.

Mrs. Virginia. Stokes the March program chairman completed the tri-theme concern by presenting Dennis De Lucia, director of the Pahokee Ambulance Services Tuesday night.

De Lucia gave a demonstration on Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation (C.P.R.) at the First United Methodist Church of Pahokee.

Murder—

Ford, which was once suspected as being the get away car.

Mrs. Mann was found shot to death Monday, March 9, by two Southern Bell telephone employees. She had been shot in the neck and an undetermined amount of currency was believed to have been taken.

Detective James R. Eberle is in charge of the investigation. Anyone having information about the case is asked to contact the Belle Glade Police Department at 996-7251. All information will be held in confidence.

Trash collection schedule

BELLE GLADE. The City of Belle Glade Superintendent of Sanitation, Anthony Williams, announced this week the sanitation department will begin releasing weekly trash collection schedules to the local news media to inform residents of the city when the city's trash crews will be in their neighborhood collecting trash.

Williams said all trash which includes old furniture, clothes, shrubbery and tree cuttings should be placed in a corner of the front yard nearest to the street or curb.

Trash will be picked up in the Southeast section of the city beginning March 22 through 20.

Childrens events highlight Black Gold Jubilee

By JIM JONES

BELLE GLADE—One of the highlights of the Black Gold Jubilee this year is the childrens schedule of events.

Organizers acknowledge that a full slate of activities for the younger set will help keep the entire family entertained.

The agenda are a childrens art show, baby crawling contest, fishing contest, pie eating contest, pet show, haystack scramble and greased pole contest.

Cecil Haller, childrens activities chairman for the Black Gold Jubilee Committee, is coordinating the activities.

One of the most ambitious projects is the childrens art show. Judges will select 155 of the best pieces of artwork created by kindergarten through sixth grade children for display in the Belle Glade Library April 6-11.

Members of the Belle Glade Junior Womens Club will be judges for the competition.

Schedule of the judging begins Monday, March 30, with judges visiting Belle Glade Elementary School. The remainder of the schedule Glades Day and Apostolic Church - March 31, Christian Day and Lutheran - April 1, Gove Elementary - April 2, and Lake Shore Elementary and Glade View Elementary - April 3.

Seven medallions will be awarded to the top artists and many children will receive ribbons for their work.

The Baby Crawling Contest will be held at McDonald Park at 2 p.m., April 11. Trophies will be awarded to the winner, second place and third place. The Belle Glade Junior Womens Club is in charge of this event.

Scout Island will host a fishing contest April 10 from 3 to 5 p.m. Children up to the age of 12 can enter. No fee will be charged. Bait will be supplied, but children must bring their own, non-mechanical bait.

Fishing trophies will be awarded to boys and girls under six for most fish caught and largest fish caught. Children above six will also receive trophies for the same categories. One trophy will be awarded to the child who lands the smallest fish.

Sunday afternoon April 12, the pie eating contest begins at 3 p.m. Children must eat with hands behind their backs. Trophies are to be awarded to the winners in two age groups - five to nine years old and nine to 12 years old.

A pet show will also be going on at 3 p.m. with trophies awarded to the children with prettiest dog, funniest dog, best trained dog, and best of show dog.

Cats and other types of pets will be recognized also. A best of show for cats and second place cat will be recognized, along with the most unusual pet.

There will be no admission charged to the pet show. The pet show is for fun, rather than being an official champion show.

A haystack scramble follows at 4 p.m. with separate contests for children in the two to four, four to six, six to eight, and eight to 10 year old categories. In each division, children will scramble for a silver dollar.

Topping the days events off is the greased pole climb. Two peeled cypress poles will present a challenge to youngsters who try to climb to the top to retrieve the $10 bill for younger children and $20 bill for large children nailed to the top. Old clothes should be worn for this event.

Adults wishing to assist with chaperoning or judging any of the contests are asked to call Mrs. Haller at 996-1701.

At their weekly meeting Friday, March 13, Black Gold Jubilee Chairman Steve Weeks asked members to begin thinking about the date for next year's festival, even as this year's Jubilee is finalized.

Committee members approved payment of $100 to Pahokee bands to march in this year's parade.

Weeks said he would be listening to several bands which have expressed interest in playing for the Jubilee on its big weekend, April 11-12. The committee rejected a two expensive a proposal to bring in a portable stage for the weekend. The committee would have had to pay $850 rent for the stage.

Stella Taylor's 25 mile swim from Moore Haven to Belle Glade is still on and it was reported that most arrangements have been completed.

Kight and Darville to speak Sunday

PAHOKEE — The St. James A.M.E. Church, will celebrate its Annual Women's Day, Sunday, Mar. 22, at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The theme for the annual observance is "Christian Women working in unity in a family circle for God".

The morning speaker will be Mrs. Barbara W. Knight of Belle Glade.

Speaking in the afternoon will be Mrs. Gloria Darville, a member of the Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church. Mrs. Elsie Thomas is serving as chairperson of the activities. The public is invited to attend these
